Under the present tariff of 3c a dozen on Eggs; in less than three years 17,140,136 dozen were imported into Canada from the United States.

In five years, 1919 to 1923, the United States sold Canada agricultural products, other than wheat, $325,000,000 more than Canada sold the U S This represents a loss in 5 years of $325,000,000 to the farmers of Canada.

A Vote for H. J. Barber

—is a vote to give new life to industry and productive enterprise; to preserve and enlarge the Canadian market for Canadian farm products; to stimulate the development of Canadian resources by the Canadian people and thus create employment for our workers; to increase the traffic of our railways by which alone an all-round reduction of freight rates can be secured; and as well, to provide added revenue and thus bring about a reduction of internal taxation.

Waterworks And Sidewalks Engage Village Council

At a special meeting of the Village Council held last week it was decided to call for tenders for about 1,400 feet of either sidewalk. It is to be laid as follows: 360 feet, 6 feet wide on Gladys between Hazel and Pine Sts. 200 feet, 5 feet wide on Essendene east of Cyril St. 680 feet on Railway St. south of Essendene. 240 feet on Essendene between Oscar and Montrose.

The Clerk has subsequently written the Burnaby Municipal Engineer asking if he could recommend a road foreman able to supervise this proposed sidewalk work.

At Monday's meeting a petition was presented to the Commissioners from the Hospital W.A. asking a grant, and the Council decided to turn over the balance of the poll tax receipts, some $15 to $20.

Bills were passed as follows: A. McPhee, rent $7.50; C. Haddrell, option, $5; United Typewriter Co. $1.43; A. Gosling 30c; J. Gillard, sidewalk work $2.40; G. E. Hayes, salary, $40.

It was decided to call for tenders for a 30,000 water tank and get prices on the following from the American Pacific Pipe Co.: 30,000 gal. tank, concrete catch-pit 4x8x8, 100-ft. 2-in pipe, 350 feet 6-in. pipe, 9 2-in. square pedestals, 1 hydrant.

When particulars and figures are available the Commissioners propose calling a meeting of ratepayers to decide advisability of proceeding with the work.

Mackenzie King's Tariff Policy ---And How It Affects the Farmer

What are the real facts regarding Mackenzie King's tariff policy? Just how does it affect the farmer? Here are a few pertinent facts regarding the poultry and dairying tariff schedule.

The duty on eggs imported into Canada is 3c per dozen—identically the same as under the Conservative administration. It is a well-known fact that not a single dozen of eggs has been imported from foreign countries into British Columbia during the past two years. The British Columbia poultryman has his home market to himself, without foreign competition. His only competitor is his fellow Canadian poultryman of the Province of Alberta. It is an actual fact that today, eggs on the British Columbia market are commanding the highest price on record. It is true that United States eggs have been dumped into Eastern Canada in the early spring. Anti-dumping—similar to that enacted to protect the fruit industry—should be brought into force to prevent this. Mackenzie King has promised that this anti-dumping clause will be brought into immediate effect.

The dairyman of British Columbia has practically no foreign competitor in his home market. The dairy products sold in British Columbia markets, other than the home product, comes from the dairies of Alberta, who also look upon this as their home market. The new Trade Agreement with Australia will not in any way affect this situation. Australia cannot compete with Alberta. The proof of this is to be found in the fact that Alberta is successfully competing with Australia in England's market; that the value of dairy products imported from foreign countries into British Columbia, under the Mackenzie King administration, is actually less than it was under Meighen's administration. In 1920, dairy products were imported to the value of $583,399. In 1924, this value was reduced to $409,097.

However the Australian Trade Agreement will materially help the British Columbia poultryman and dairyman. This Agreement provides a market for 75,000 tons of British Columbia newsprint. The production of this newsprint means an outlay in wages to labor of over $3,000,000 per year. These new wage earners will be buyers of British Columbia poultry and dairy products.

Mackenzie King has substantially reduced the cost of farming implements to the farmer, by his reduction in the tariff on all implements of production. Mackenzie King's big national policy is the development of the West. He realizes that this can be done best, by making farming profitable to the farmer.

The Conservative candidates, from the platform and in their advertising, have made statements regarding the tariff, that are absolutely misleading and maliciously false. For instance they state that British Columbia apples are debarred from the United States by the tariff. As a matter of fact, they have been debarred because of certain diseases in some Canadian orchards. When this is eradicated, they will have access to the American market.

The statements of the Conservative candidates, regarding the tariff and the manner in which it affects the farmer, would indicate a lack of knowledge of farming conditions. This lack of knowledge of farming conditions, is born out by Hansard, the official record of Parliament. It quotes Mr. McQuarrie, Conservative Candidate in New Westminster as follows: "Something must be done to improve conditions on farms, so as to make them more attractive for men who might be expected to work on them. Possibly I have not a great deal of information about the way in which farm laborers are treated; but it seems to me that they are more or less turned out into the back yard to live, that they are not given proper accommodation, and that they are not treated exactly as they should be, in more respects than one." This woefully ignorant statement would cause a big laugh, if the man who made it had not at that time represented one of British Columbia's best farming districts, and is now a candidate for reelection.

Babson, the great financial authority states that Canada is entering an era of wonderful prosperity. It has taken Mackenzie King just three years and three months to bring this about. During that time he has saved the taxpayers of this country $159,176,602. He has raised our dollar from a depreciation of approximately 17 per cent until today it commands a premium on the American market. He has passed an Order-in-Council calling for the removal of the discriminatory freight rates which are retarding the development of the West. Through his trade treaties with foreign countries, he has created markets which have purchased $1,081,361, 643 of Canada's surplus products. All this in three years and three months. It would seem to be sound common sense to vote Liberal and let Mackenzie King continue the good work.

"How is Colonel George H. Ham of the C.P.R.?" This was one of the first questions asked by Maria Jeritza, the most celebrated soprano of our time, when she visited Montreal on October 9th, 1925. She expressed regret when she learned that the Dean of Canadian Journalists was indisposed, and she sent him a bouquet of candy roses in a candy vase with the wish that his life may long continue to be "lovely as the roses and sweet as the candy." Colonel Ham sent Jeritza a bouquet of cut flowers.

an interesting chat with the engine men who guided her train to Toronto where she sang on October 10th. She gave the engine men some roses from bouquets received from appreciative members of her Montreal audience. In private life, Maria Jeritza is the wife of Baron Popper of Vienna described by Colonel Ham as "one of the finest looking men I have ever seen." Baron Popper stands well over 6 feet in height. He and the golden haired, blue eyed, pearly mouthed Baroness make a perfect pair. Jeritza spends most of the winter singing at the Metropolitan Opera.

At a joint meeting of Sumas land owners and municipal councillors held on the Municipal Hall yesterday afternoon, it was decided to accept Premier Oliver's proposal that the litigation in progress by the Municipality against the Land Settlement Board over the dyking assessments be suspended for a period and allow the matter to be arbitrated by a special committee of the Legislature.

About 50 land owners were present and after much discussion it was felt that the farmers would lose nothing in presenting their case before a committee such as suggested by the Premier, many of whom are business men. And in spite of the Government's reiterated declaration that no concessions will be given the farmers, a more optimistic atmosphere pervaded the meeting, the feeling being that the Municipal legal overtures had compelled attention.

A committee of land owners was appointed as follows to meet the Legislature committee: Reeve Lamson, Ex-Reeve J. Cook, A. Campbell, O. Blatchford, and E. B. McPhail.

The first local game of football for the season was played on Saturday afternoon between Abbotsford and the Ex-General Gordons of Vancouver. A fast game resulted in which the Gordons lost by 3-2—their first defeat of the season. The visitors were League winners in their own class last year. At the close of the game refreshments were served the players in the Parish hall by a number of young ladies. In the evening the same teams played basketball, and the home team were again victorious, the totals being 18-17.

The Coming General Election

The outstanding event of the week in which this article is written was the dissolution of Parliament and the calling of a general election to take place next month to choose a new House of Commons. This is a matter in which every citizen of Canada is vitally interested regardless of individual party views and affiliations or position occupied in the economic life of the Dominion.

The fortunes of political parties are not the concern of this particular column; what we are concerned about are the fortunes of the Dominion of Canada, and, in particular, of Western Canada because of a profound conviction that it will only be through the settlement, the development, the prosperity of this vast western land that permanent growth and prosperity will come to the Dominion as a whole. Support given, or opposition voiced, in this column to any given policy in the past, or that may be given or voiced in the future, is not because such policy may originate with any particular political party, but because of its bearing on Canada's progress and prosperity.

In the coming election, as in all elections, many conscientious voters will find themselves in somewhat of a quandary just how to mark their ballot paper. They not only will be called upon to choose from among the candidates offering for election the man or woman to be their representative at Ottawa, but, while making that choice, they must also render a verdict on the larger national issue of the policies and group of men they desire to rule at Ottawa.

Because of this double responsibility, many voters find themselves in difficulties. If it was merely a case of selecting their local representative, the task would be comparatively simple, namely, voting for the candidate who in their judgment was the most upright, the ablest, best informed and most intelligent, and therefore likely to prove the most capable representative. But it is not infrequently happens that this particular candidate is standing in support of policies and leaders which the individual voter is not prepared to support, while a less capable man is the candidate supporting policies and leaders in which he has confidence. The problem is there, but in the final analysis it must be decided by the voter.

One thing the individual voter can do, and that is to use all his influence to secure the selection of a candidate in whom he has every confidence as a local representative by the party whose policies he supports and in whose leaders he has confidence. Such action on his part is one of the duties of citizenship which the individual voter owes to his country.

Another course of action on the part of the individual voter is to refrain from pledging his support to any one candidate until all the candidates are in the field, and the opposing policies of the contending parties are clearly outlined and understood. Nobody should pledge such a valuable thing as his vote "in the dark" and without full knowledge of all the facts which have a bearing in the election.

In the approaching election there is another and grave consideration which must influence the voter in the marking of his ballot. Since Confederation, with the exception of the last four years, the party in power at Ottawa, whether Liberal, Conservative or Unionist, has always commanded a substantial and working majority. It was able to govern, and if it was guilty of neglect and failure to grapple and deal with national problems, the responsibility rested squarely on its shoulders.

During the past four years the Government of the day did not possess such a majority. The House of Commons was divided into three distinct groups, each with policies of their own. The outstanding feature of Conservative policy was wholly unacceptable to the Progressive group and to the vast majority of the Government following; the principles and primary features of Progressive policy were equally unacceptable to the Conservatives and to a certain section of the Liberals. Inasmuch as the Government of the day had to depend upon the support of one group or the other, a deadlock usually resulted, and party considerations and manoeuvrings became paramount to the national welfare and progress.

As a result, Canada has drifted at a time when decisive action was urgently needed. Everybody recognizes the situation. The Opposition make it a charge against the Government; the Government admits the situation has existed but holds itself blameless in view of the conditions which confronted it.

Great Britain suffered from exactly the same situation until an election became imperative. Then the people put an end to an impossible situation by returning one party with an overwhelming majority and a clear mandate to govern. In the last United States election the voters were faced with a similar problem, and they, too, decided in the interests of good government to give one group a clear and substantial working majority.

In the election next month the voters of Canada must face this issue and decide it. Regardless of the outcome of the voting, it is important that decisive action one way or the other be taken, and an end put to present indecision and drifting leading to worse than stagnation in the development and carrying into effect of policies and reforms calculated to promote the national welfare.

Perhaps the most elaborate, and therefore the most perplexing, national flag is that of Tibet, because, apart from the main design, which is curiously complex, the spaces in it are filled up with alternate triangles of red and blue.

Latest Triumph Of British Optical Industry

Make Better Lenses Than Any Other Country In World

A cinematograph machine which will take 4,800 pictures a second is one of the latest triumphs of British makers of optical instruments. It can be used to show, for example, the effect of the impact of projectiles on armored plate.

This is only one of the many remarkable results achieved since the war which have placed the British optical industry far ahead of foreign rivals. Before the war, lenses ground in Germany were believed to be the best; now, British lenses are being bought by the German Government for German state institutions.

You would be surprised at the wonderful action of "Nerviline" in just such cases. Being thin and not an oil preparation, it is able to penetrate quickly, and down it sinks into the tissues, carrying its healing, soothing action wherever it goes. For stopping muscular or nerve pain, for easing a stiff joint, Nerviline is a complete success. Pain, soreness, stiffness all vanish before the magic power of this wonderful liniment. Nearly fifty years of success proves the merit of Nerviline, which is sold everywhere in large 35 cent bottles.

NEARING A BREAKDOWN

A Condition That Calls For a Reliable Tonic

Many women give so much of their time to the cares of their household that they neglect their own health and sometimes reach the verge of a breakdown before they realize that their health is shattered. Often the heart palpitates violently at slight exertion, the stomach fails to digest food and discomfort follows. The nerves become weak and headaches grow more frequent. The body grows weak and they are always depressed. This condition requires immediate treatment with such a reliable tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich and build up the blood, carrying renewed energy to every part of the body. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a rundown condition is proved by the following statement from Mrs. Alex. McInnes, Bowmans River, Man., who says:—"About a year ago I had a serious illness which left me very anemic. I was not able to get around to do my work; in fact I could scarcely walk. I was troubled with palpitation of the heart with the least exertion. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they had done her much good. I followed this advice and took the pills for some weeks when I felt as well as ever. I have since been able to attend to all my household duties. The dizziness and palpitation have left me and I bless the day I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are just the medicine for those who are weak and rundown."

You can get these pills from any dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rifians Are Good Fighters

Are Holding Their Own Against France and Spain

The Rifian tribesmen in Morocco will be able to maintain their independence against the French and Spaniards for some time, in the opinion of Sir Charles Hobhouse, former British army officer, and ex-postmaster-general, who has returned to London from inspecting the condition of the Rifian refugees at Tangier, on behalf of the League of Nations.

"Despite grandiose stories, the Rifians are holding their own against France and Spain," he told the newspapermen. "It will undoubtedly be a case of Europe against Africa, if the war is carried on, and it looks as if Africa will hold her own, and a little more."

"The Rifis are great fighters. They have up-to-date equipment, and their leader, Abd-el-Krim, is a man of remarkable military capacity."

It immediately relieves the restricted air passages as thousands can testify. It is sold by dealers everywhere.

Ancient Indian Curio Sent to New York From Saskatchewan

Swathed in its original wrappings, some of the inner materials being hundreds of years old, one of the oldest relics on the American continent is now on its way to New York to its long rest in the museum of American Heye Foundation, an institution devoted exclusively to Indian relics.

D. A. Cadzow, curator of the museum, was in Regina recently after more than a month spent in the various reserves in Saskatchewan. He secured a mass of old knives, arrows, blankets, beads and other trinkets, but the prize he was after and secured was possibly the last of the peace pipes retained by the Crees.

No Shortage Of Insulin

Prof. J. J. R. MacLeod, of the University of Toronto, who was associated with Dr. Banting in the discovery of insulin, addressed the physiological section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, saying that insulin was procurable in great quantities from the islet tissues of fishes. There could be an enormous yield of insulin from this source, but there was no longer any shortage, as insulin could be obtained in quite sufficient quantities from the pancreas of the ox.

Chinese Law Very Strict

Offenders All Treated the Same in Their Courts

When Lord Palmerston, in 1838, tried to force a bill through the House of Commons to establish an extra territorial court in China in civil and criminal cases it was defeated through the opposition of Sir James Graham and other sound lawyers, who refused to be parties to the creation of a tribunal which would interfere with an "independent power" like China.

As a matter of fact, the objection made to Chinese law by countries whose nationals got into trouble there was that it was too strict and too well enforced.

For example, all murders looked alike to the Chinese courts, and so drunken sailors ashore who killed somebody for fun naturally wished to be tried by European judges who would consider the mitigating circumstances.

It is about time for people to wake up to the fact that Chinese legal ideas, like her arts, were very advanced when Europe was in a state of barbarism.—New York Telegram.

Tourist Traffic Extending North

Northern Rockies Will Be Mecca of World Says Louis W. Hill

"World tourist traffic is tending north. This generation will see the time when the Northern Rockies will be the Mecca of the wealth and society of Europe and America. The next generation will see the development of Alaska as the centre of the world tourist traffic." This is the opinion expressed here by Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway, and son of the famous founder of the road, James J. Hill.

Mr. Hill, who is motoring through the Canadian Rockies with William Kenny, vice-president of his road, expresses the hope that the United States will copy the superior park laws and highways which he has found north of the border.

As the one to whom credit is given for discovering and opening up Glacier National Park, Montana, Mr. Hill believes that good auto roads are now the strongest medium for developing the tourist possibilities of a country. Such roads as the Banff-Windermere highway will in the next generation stretch clear into the wilds of Alaska, he predicted.

Super Plane Completed

United States Machine Will Stand Flight to Tokio

A super aeroplane that could make a non-stop flight from the Pacific coast to Tokio and from the Atlantic coast to Paris has been perfected by the Douglas Aircraft Corporation of Santa Monica.

A statement to this effect was made by Donald W. Douglas, head of the corporation, confirming the assertion of Colonel William A. Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service.

"The plane we have perfected not only can make the non-stop flights indicated, but at the same time can carry a ton of explosives," said Mr. Douglas. "This flight can be made at the rate of 113 miles an hour."

Worms in children work havoc. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and, if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the hook variety that cling to and feed upon the interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms, of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

Using New Type Of Fighting Plane

French Machine Carries Heaviest Armament Ever Used

The French in Morocco are using a new type of fighting plane carrying the heaviest armament ever used. It is made of metal with bullet-proof tank. Besides machine guns the planes carry special quick-firing guns of a calibre of one and a half inches. Each plane is manned by a crew of five men.

The new planes belong to the naval air service. Possessing a large radius of action, they are considered the most powerful machines of the air today.

Among other new weapons the French are experimenting with is an appliance enabling bombers to throw hand grenades 150 yards.

Corns are painful growths. Holloway's Corn Remover will remove them.

The fattest man who ever lived was probably Daniel Lambert, who was born at Leicester, England, in 1770, and died in 1835. His weight was 739 pounds. A group of a dozen young men once stood within a buttoned waistcoat that had belonged to Lambert.

Canada Must Hold Fast To Link That Welds Together Component Parts Of Empire

Severing of some of the old ties of the British Empire is natural and reasonable progress, but few in Canada think on that account that the empire is disintegrating, said Sir George Foster, in a public address at Victoria.

"Some people say it would not make any difference if the empire was a republic and headed by a president or a monarchy headed by a King," Sir George added.

"But the British Empire, scattered as it is over the surface of the world and composed of races and tribes of all colors and beliefs, is held together by that common sovereignty of ours."

"It is symbol of sovereignty that has made the British Empire what it is and we must hold fast to that link that welds into a whole all the scattered parts of the empire."

Protecting Caribou Herds

Indian Department Will Take Steps To Prevent Extinction

Even as the buffalo, so may the mighty herds of caribou that roam the barren lands of Northern Saskatchewan be decimated.

Today they are found literally in millions. Official reports have come from that country above Reindeer Lake, which state one of the great herds will take days to pass a given point in mass formation.

The caribou is practically the living of the Indians in the territory where they wander. But it is feared the annual slaughter will have to be curtailed and the Indian department is now taking the necessary steps with that object in view.

One band of Indians, less than one hundred in number, killed several thousands last year. It was obvious that no Indian was going to consume a hundred caribou in a season and officials of a treaty payment party on a visit to Lac La Hoche last summer found the evidence of killing being carried beyond all reason. Those Indians are going to have it brought home to them that that kind of slaughter will have to cease.

Market For Western Wheat

Norway Will Get Wheat In Canada Says Commissioner

Most of the wheat Norway requires this year will come from Canada, according to A. Johannessen, of the Norwegian food commission, Oslo, who visited Winnipeg, on his way through the west to study crop and marketing conditions here.

Many European millers and grain merchants suffered such heavy losses during the slump in wheat prices from February to May this year that they will be afraid of making large contracts for next year he said.

All the import trade of grains and flour to Norway is handled by the Norwegian Government, Mr. Johannessen explained. It is a provisional measure, adopted during the war, and which the government still finds advisable to keep in force owing to unfavorable agricultural conditions in the country. From 1914 to 1917 private importers as well as the government handled import trade of grains. In 1917 the government took it over entirely.

Alfalfa Is Good Horse Feed

Experiments Show Prejudice Against It Is Unfounded

An experiment conducted by the Michigan Agricultural College seems to show that, to some extent at least, the prejudice against alfalfa as a horse feed is not founded on fact. Horses which were fed alfalfa regularly for a year maintained their weight and good condition, and did just as much work at less feed cost than their team-mates.

Nine teams of horses, varying from 2 1/2 to 14 years of age, were selected for the experiment. One horse of each team was fed corn and alfalfa and the other corn, oats and timothy.

The alfalfa-fed horses consumed an average of 12.2 pounds of corn and 17.91 of alfalfa per day, while the others ate 8 pounds of corn and 6.23 pounds of oats, with 19.59 pounds of timothy. It costs 31 cents a day for feed with the alfalfa-fed horses and 37 cents for the timothy-fed horses. The former gained an average of 21 pounds during the year, and their mates lost 17 pounds each.

Cultivation Of Drug Plants

Small Plot of Land Might be Used For This Purpose

Formerly, as Mr. John Adams, assistant dominion botanist, says in his bulletin on "Medicinal plants and Their Cultivation in Canada," certain drug plants growing wild in this country were to be had for the mere trouble of gathering. Excess of use of this privilege has led to their scarcity and in their wild state to such practical disappearance as now to require their cultivation. Particularly is this true of Seneca snake root and Golden Seal.

Mr. Adams, in dealing with this subject, gives the commonsense advice that unless a farmer can convince himself that he can realize larger profits per acre from the growth of drug plants than from the usual farm products, he would be unwise to attempt it unless as a sort of subsidiary means of supplementing his income. However, he can run no risk by devoting a small plot of about an acre to drug plant culture as an experiment for a few years. He might grow at least ten different sorts of those best suited to his locality. The plants for which there is demand are: Golden Seal, which is collected in autumn after the seeds have ripened; white mustard, the seeds of which, and Black Mustard, when ground and mixed, constitute the mustard of commerce; Seneca Snake Root or Mountain Flax, is collected in autumn and can be grown on any soil suitable for field crops; Marsh Mallow, Sacred Bark or Bearberry, Anise, Caraway, Coriander, Fennel, Wintergreen or Checkerberry, Horehound, Peppermint and others, descriptions of all of which are given in the bulletin, which can be had by addressing the publication branch, Ottawa.

Above everything farmers are warned against paying heed to flamboyant advertisements purporting to tell of big profits that can be made by growing medicinal plants.

Using By-Products To Surface Roads

Stockholm Has Made Discovery That Keeps City Free From Dust

Through the use of an industrial by-product which has hitherto been wasted, Stockholm is henceforth to be made a dust-free city.

After conclusive tests the authorities have discovered that by sprinkling streets or roadways that are either macadamized or unpaved with the lye in which wood pulp has been dissolved, they become coated with a resilient substance which holds the dust down even in heavy traffic. At first the streets so treated are a bit sticky, but as soon as the liquid has evaporated the residue forms a brown coating that in many respects excels crude oil or any tar-like substance. The slight odor also disappears very quickly. In the past the pulp mills have been in the habit of pouring this chemical laden liquor away.

In the suburbs of Stockholm a piece of roadway has been treated with the new liquid every two weeks, and now the surface is smooth and hard as though coated with some kind of asphalt.

One of the Mysteries

No One Has Ever Found the Nature of Light

Immortality awaits the research worker who can solve the mystery of the nature of light.

The theory that light consists of waves is apparently substantiated by such phenomena as reflection.

On the other hand, many experiments seem to uphold the quantum theory, the theory that light consists of definite particles of energy.

Physicists find themselves up against a real difficulty. One wit in the scientific world says that they are solving the problem by using the wave theory on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the quantum theory on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Buying More Canadian Goods Germany is buying more Canadian goods. In the twelve months ended July, Canadian exports to Germany were $32,438,268, an increase of fourteen million dollars. Canadian purchases in Germany, on the other hand, were $6,935,265, an increase of less

Home Grown Seeds

Practice of Saving Seed Pods Will Prove Both Profitable and Interesting

Collecting and drying one's own home grown seed is a fascinating game, especially if care is taken to spot the best varieties of plants and mark them in some simple fashion. The money saved may then go toward coveted new seeds or plants. Even if the seedlings show the effects of flitting insects, they will carry the peculiar charm which belongs to the offspring from seeds developed in "your own home garden."

Select a dry day for collecting seed pods, and do not wait for these to burst before gathering. In some plants, ripening takes place all at once, while in others this operation extends over a month or more and only a few seeds can be gathered at one time. Probably the simplest method of drying is to place in a separate bag and label. Removing their cases may then be done when convenient. Exchanging seeds with friends is one of the most delightful ways of adding to one's store of plants and proving the quality of one's seeds.

Hungarians Buy Manitoba Farms

Former Colonel of Hussars Will Bring Family Out in Spring

Two Hungarian aristocrats will be seen tilling Manitoba soil next summer.

Count Taza Palfy and Julius de Plosser, the latter a former colonel of Hungarian Hussars, have purchased a section of land at Hazelridge, 40 miles from Winnipeg. They will remain on the farm this winter until next spring, at which time the former colonel will return to his native land to get his family. They both state they want to learn farming by experience and will do the work themselves.

Indications that Western Canada was to have quite a colony of titled Hungarians was seen in the announcement by the Hungarian aid bureau, Winnipeg, that Baron Chavosay, another recent arrival, had purchased a 2,000-acre ranch between Calgary and Banff.

Sweet Clover Improves the Soil

Has the Ability to Extract Nitrogen From the Air

Nitrogen is one of the most essential plant foods as well as the most expensive. Sweet clover being a legume has the ability to extract free nitrogen from the air and incorporate it into its tissues. It thus becomes, as Mr. Derick points out in his pamphlet on "Sweet Clover" (Pamphlet No. 56 of the Dominion department of agriculture), probably one of the most valuable improvers of soils. This legume thrives on poor soils, producing an abundance of large, fleshy roots that decay readily and supply organic matter to the soil, thus improving the texture and providing better drainage and aeration. A bulletin published by the University of Illinois states that in the spring the roots weigh as much or more than the tops and that the nitrogen content is not much lower.

Exports Of Grain

Falling Off In Quantity But Small Decrease In Total Value

Figures showing exports of Canada's chief grain crops for the twelve months ending July 31, 1925, reveal the interesting fact that, while exports fell off in bulk by over 30 per cent., value of exports showed a decrease of little more than 10 per cent. For the twelve months total exports of wheat, barley, oats and rye amounted to 215,702,347 bushels, having an aggregate value of $276,261,424, whereas for the corresponding period of last year exports totalled 353,870,051 bushels of the value of $328,348,508.

Find Statue In Ocean

A well preserved statue of antiquity was found in the sea off the coast of Marathon by a number of fishermen. The statue is of bronze and represents the life-sized cast of a youth. Greek experts declare that the statue is extremely valuable and have compared it to the famous statue of "The Youth of Antioch."

Dominions Need Population

Rapid Progress Depends On Strong Immigration Policy

Continued and rapid progress in the Dominions depends upon the continued and rapid increase of their population, says the London Morning Post. Such increase can only be accomplished by means of inter-imperial migration. There are in this country a great many more persons than the industries of the country can support. But before any large scheme of emigration can be carried into execution, it is necessary to ensure that new settlers in the Dominions shall be provided with a market for their produce. Great Britain is the best market in the world; and by means of a policy of preference the products of the Dominions may be given the advantage over foreign products. But, again, the possibility of emigration on a great scale depends upon the working together of the Dominions with this country. How essential it is to their populations with English stock the Dominions have not yet thoroughly understood. It appeared in the course of the parliamentary debate that, by reason of delay overseas, some 50,000 persons, approved by the authorities, are waiting to migrate.

British Boys For Alberta

Contingent of Boys for Training at Alberta Government Farm School Arrangements are now being made for bringing over this year's contingent of British farm boys for training at the Alberta Government farm schools.

Hon. George Hoadley has asked that they be here by the middle of October as the schools will open October 27. There is to be a maximum limit of 100 boys, and they will be routed direct from England to the three schools at Vermilion, Olds and Claresholm.

Under the plan to followed this year, the British lads will pay their own way at the schools, and the overseas settlement board will remunerate the Provincial Government on a monthly per capita basis.

It is anticipated the full quota will be reached without difficulty.

Plenty Of Flowers In Canada

Many Cultivated In England That Grow Wild Here

Lady Byng, who is an enthusiastic flower lover, wishes to transplant some Canadian flowers to her English garden and to that end sent for her English gardener to make a special study of these wild things. Recently at Jasper lodge, before a little audience invited to meet her, she spoke informally on the subject. She commented on the number of flowers which she said over in England were only to be found in gardens, and there were frequently cultivated at considerable cost, but which out here in Canada people literally trod underfoot, they were so plentiful. She urged the members to cultivate rock gardens in Jasper. Her Excellency said it was astonishing how many people overseas thought that there were no flowers in Canada.

Saskatchewan Leads With Registered Seed

Has Three Hundred Growers Against Manitoba's Forty-eight

The field inspection of registered seed in the western provinces is now practically finished for the season. The number of fields is slightly increased from last year, although at first the applications were somewhat less. The number picked up on the way by inspectors has brought the total well up. Saskatchewan leads with about 300 growers of registered seed. Manitoba has 48 this year as against 31 last season.

In Saskatchewan the seed grain competitions were also judged and, as the provincial staff of district representatives was working on this, the Dominion seed branch staff joined forces and pooled the work to avoid duplication of routes.

Increased Taxation Must Necessarily Follow Demand For Better Public Service

New Profession For Women

Bird Hospital In New York Does Flourishing Business

Miss Emilia Steinacher, niece of the late Dr. J. J. Henna, one of the founders of the French Hospital in New York, and for many years chief surgeon there, has the unique profession of bird surgeon. Receiving her surgical training from her uncle, Miss Steinacher applied her skill to feathered pets and has restored hundreds of sick birds to health during the past twenty-three years. She was the only visiting physician on the staff of the late Miss Virginia Pope, well known bird doctor, who maintained a home for birds in New York for many years.

At Miss Steinacher's hospital and boarding home for feathered pets are birds suffering from various troubles. One bullfinch is slowly getting feathers again on his bald head, the baldness being due to an over-rich diet at the hands of a fond owner. A handsome green parrot that had been too weak to stand and had laid for days on a cushion, is now talking again with a return to his previous spirits. A trooper is recovering the use of a badly mended leg that Miss Steinacher reset. A once blind canary now sees, after the surgeon had removed three growths from its eye.

Miss Steinacher claims that a real love for birds is a necessary basis for all successful treatment and care of them. She operates on little canaries to remove tumors, mends broken legs and wings, prescribes special diets for upset digestions and intestinal disorders and trains birds in good habits, such as daily baths and neatness with their feed.

Ignorant Of Canada

Premier Ferguson Tells English Journalists He Was Amazed

The married farmer with sufficient money to establish himself and the boy from the middle classes who can be trained into a farmer are the kind of immigrants Ontario most desires, Premier G. H. Ferguson told a party of ten English journalists who were in Toronto in the course of a tour of the Dominion.

Mr. Ferguson told the journalists that when he was in England the thing that amazed him was the want of knowledge of Canada and conditions in Canada. "I found that people knew far more about Australia and New Zealand than they did of this country. We need men over there who really understand conditions in Canada."

Adjustable Water Wheel

Will Rise and Fall Any Height Up to 36 Feet

A water wheel has been invented which is designed to adjust itself automatically to the varying height of the propelling stream. As first constructed the wheel has eight V-shaped paddles about 13 feet long and 14 inches wide, and it is so mounted on an airtight tank that it rises and falls with the river's changes through any height up to 36 feet. It is used for pumping irrigating water from a distance of 280 feet to a height of 70 feet above the source. Pumps and gearing are placed on the river bank, and the wheel and tank are connected by a shaft having universal couplings at each end.

Reviving the Ancient

points out that we are too apt to cry out against what taxation takes from us, without reckoning up in the other column what taxation does for us. It is not so much the taxation that should be criticized as the way in which the taxes are spent. If there are things which can be dispensed with as needless luxuries, then taxes should not be raised in order to purchase them. But civilized men, in communities that are organized, demand so many services, that the chief question is to supply these services at reasonable cost to the taxpayer who wants them.

Citizens, says Canadian Finance, cannot expect to be considered consistent if they clamor for improvements in one breath and for lower taxes in the next, for no progress can be made in that way. What people get in the way of public improvement they must pay for, and they can't have everything they want and lower taxes too.

At the same time, while public spending in recent years has run away beyond all bounds, anybody who hopes to get back to the low taxes of 20 years ago, is indulging in an elusive dream.

To get back to the lower tax levels would mean to get back to the inferior school systems and the bad roads and poorer lighting of those days.

Taxpayers are paying for more than they were and in many cases more than they should; but it should not be forgotten that they are getting more, too, and that in many instances what they are getting is worth the price they pay.

This is no argument for extravagance. Extravagance with taxes is a wicked injustice upon those whose hard won earnings contribute to the public treasury, and is not only directly burdensome, but is made indirectly pernicious by the poison of a demoralizing example.

Settlers From United States

Many American Farmers Taking Up Land In Western Canada

Returned from what he regards as a remarkably encouraging inspection of the various agencies in the mid-western, northwestern and southwestern states, J. Bruce Walker, superintendent of immigration in the United States, states that from April 1 to August 31, of this year the number of farmers sent up from these states to settle land in Western Canada shows an increase of 50 per cent, over the figures for the same period and from the same region last year.

He stated, too, that from March 1 to August 31 this year the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Pacific Railways and the Hudson's Bay Company sold more land in Western Canada than in a similar period for the past ten years.

"All we have to do," said Mr. Walker, "is to get those Western American farmers to go and see Canada; Canada will do the rest. If Canada with her wonderful wheat fields cannot induce these people to stay no other agency can. They are going to Canada in steadily increasing numbers to see the country and steadily increasing numbers of those people are taking land and staying. Reports from agencies of the department wherever located in the United States all tell the same story."

Barrowed Fashion

Indian girls on the Glacier National Park reservation bob their hair just like the pale face city misses. They use rouge, too, of a hue that blends with their copper colored complexion. And the wrinkled old squaws make it for them from herbs which they gather on the wooded slopes of the Rocky Mountains. Out in the west these Indians take it for granted that the pale face girls got the idea of cheek painting from the American Indian custom, just as the Indian girls took the hair bobbing habit from their "white sisters."

Time For Best Work

Tests performed on 112 students at Colgate University by Dr. Donald Laird, indicate that the average mind does its best work at 8 a.m. and the poorest work at 4 p.m. Wednesday is the best day of the week and Saturday the poorest.

Until two years ago no census of the population of Palestine had been taken since the time of Solomon. In 1923 there were 83,794 Jews in the country; today the total is estimated at 108,000.

MUNRO AND BARROW DEFEND LIBERAL POLICIES BEFORE ABBOTSFORD AUDIENCE

A strong Liberal team appeared on the platform at the Masonic hall on Saturday when Elgin Munro, Federal Member for this riding and Hon. E. D. Barrow, Provincial Minister of Agriculture addressed a public meeting that included a vigorous representation of Conservatives. Proceedings opened with a pianoforte selection and the appearance of a kilted Scottish comedian, who sang a rollicking comic song in true "smoker" style—nicely calculated prelude and tribute to the audience assembled.

Hon. Mr. Barrow was introduced as the first speaker by Mr. A. Campbell the chairman, and entered at once into the agricultural issues at stake in this election, addressing himself particularly to farmers.

No Foreign Eggs Entering B.C.

Mr. Barrow dealt first with the egg situation, explaining the grading regulations now enforced, and how foreign importations have been checked. In addition to the grading stamp that has to be affixed upon all American eggs entering Canada, an added restriction has been established against Chinese eggs, so that no bakers, restaurants or hotels in British Columbia may use Chinese eggs in food for their patrons unless a sign is prominently placed in their establishment giving that information to all customers. As a result, Mr. Barrow said, very few, if any, "fresh" eggs are now entering B.C. from China and not one dozen American eggs have commercially entered Canada for the past two years.

The suggestion was here interposed that Hon. Frank McKenzie Conservative Member, had initiated the Bill that had resulted in these enactments. Mr. Barrow conceded credit to Mr. McKenzie for his initial efforts in this connection, but claimed co-operation of Federal and Provincial Liberal governments in effecting its practical application.

Butter Market Not Manicured

In respect to butter, as a product referred to in Conservative criticism of the Australian treaty, the Minister stated that no Australian butter had entered B.C. for years. A small quantity of New Zealand butter had entered at periods, but this was negligible compared with Canada's export total of a value of 20 million dollars. Mr. Barrow referred to the efforts of Dr. Tolmie, Conservative Minister of Agriculture to establish oleomargarine in Canada as a "wholesome spread for the poor." "Were I poor with a large family," the speaker said "and unable to buy sufficient butter for my family, I would rather, with a knowledge of its vitamin content, give my children but 25 per cent. of butter to 100 per cent. of oleo" explaining that the vegetable and animal oil "base" of oleo was devoid of such nutriment as contained in good butter.

Fraser Valley to be First T.B. Test Area

An important bit of information for dairymen was given out by Mr. Barrow who announced that the Dominion government would co-operate with the Provincial Agricultural department in establishing "restricted" areas for cleaning up T.B. in cattle, and further that the first area to be so organized is to be the Fraser Valley. This priority was given as the Fraser Valley contains more cows to the square mile than any other like part of the Dominion. Such thorough tests, Mr. Barrow pointed out, would greatly enhance the value of Fraser Valley herds, which now numbered some 30,000 animals.

Says Chinese Exclusion Now Effective

Speaking of Chinese exclusion, the Minister said the Federal government had abandoned the $500 head tax "because it did not keep them out, and you know it did not keep them out." Chinese laborers are now totally excluded, admission being granted only merchants and students. Definition of a merchant is "one engaged in the import and export business" and not one of this class of immigrants had entered Canada since the new legislation was enacted.

At the close of his address Mr. Barrow was asked by one of the audience "why have 50 per cent. of the poultrymen been forced out of business during the past year or two?" "A large proportion of them should never have started," was the reply. "Too many did not know hens from pullets."

"They entered the business on the advice of government representatives" was the parting rejoinder of another Conservative present.

Conditions in U.S. Not So Rosy

Here the Scottish comedian poured oil on the party ripples with an amusing tale of his first experience in Canada as a harvest hand, following up his story with a ditty of his own composition upon the same topical subject.

"Joining yourself to the bandwagon of Protection is tying yourself to a runaway horse" was the overture of Hon. Elgin Munro, the next speaker. He amplified his statement with a description of agricultural conditions in the United States where protection has been increased to help the farmer. A total of 683,000 farmers are now bankrupt in some 15 states of the Union the speaker said, and hundreds of banks in the Dakotas and other farm states forced to close. Further figures were given in connection with this matter.

The Mackenzie King government had to contend with disrupting sentiment more serious than the general public realized, Mr. Munro pointed out, stating "I have sat in the House for four years and heard the Maritimes repeatedly talk secession, and also decided utterances of this desire by representatives of the Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Later speaking of taxes Mr. Munro quoted per capita taxes of various countries, his figures showing those in Canada as lower than the United States. Canadian currency which was during the Conservative regime as low as 20 per cent. discount on the New York market, is now at a small premium, the speaker continued, and criticized the fiscal details of the bond issues by the Conservative government, which he claimed paid a high price for the money, and dated issues for 40 years during which time they are tax-free, have concentrated into the hands of a few wealthy individuals, and will draw interest for many years to come. At present, the speaker said, $3 out of every $4 Federal revenue goes to pay interest on these loans incurred by Tories. He dealt with the exodus of Canadians to the United States, covering the same Liberal claims as published herein last week and uttered by another speaker. For the first time since Confederation, he said, every province in the Dominion is represented in the Cabinet.

Denounces Conservative Neighbors

Reviewing some of his efforts to secure Federal aid in public work for Nicomen Island, Fraser River bank protection, Customs release of machinery for the berry growers and similar work for his riding, Mr. Munro bitterly denounced Conservative members of adjoining Ridings for tactics he claims they used to defeat his efforts at Ottawa and to discredit him in the eyes of his constituents. He referred particularly to an article published in the Chilliwack Progress when it was owned by Senator Taylor of the British Columbia, in which he was belittled as having been absent when a vote was called upon a project he was sponsoring. Mr. Munro produced a dentist's letter certifying to his condition at the time and saying that he had always played fair with both Liberals and Conservatives at all times exclaimed "I sometimes wonder it it pays for a public man to treat his opponents fairly."

He positively would not solicit any person's vote, Mr. Munro said in conclusion, but re-iterated some of the principles which were involved in this election contest.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner. Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

A FEARFUL BUSINESS

Wishing to get a living without working hard I have leased comfortable commodious rooms in Mr. Lovemoney's Block, corner of Rum Street and Perdition Lane, next door to undertaker's, where I manufacture Drunkards and Orphans, Widows, Harlots, Lunatics, Beggars, make men unfit for work so that they lose their jobs, and cause many painful diseases and accidents, start quarrels and murders and riots.

My liquors are warranted to rob some of life; many of reason; more of property; and of true peace, and to make fathers fiends and a disgrace to their families.

If one of my regular customers should decide to reform, I will for a few pennies with pleasure induce him to take just one glass more or by offering him free drinks tempt him to start again on the road to Hell.

The money he should give to his wife and children for their keep will go to buy luxuries for me, and after his money is gone I will sell him drink on time and run him into debt, sue and get legal judgement or by attaching his wages keep him broke.

Orders promptly filled for bad headache, scrofula, consumption, delirium tremens—in short I'll do my best to bring upon my regular customers debt, disgrace, despair and death in this, and in the next the pangs of the second Death.

A disgraceful business for any Government or individual to be concerned in.

COL. FOSTER GIVES ABLE TORY ADDRESS

There was keen disappointment felt by the large audience which attended the Liberal-Conservative meeting last Thursday at the absence of the Hon. H. H. Stevens, who was announced to speak. Mr. J. McGowan, chairman, informed those present that the local committee had acted in good faith in advertising Mr. Stevens' appearance, and expressed appreciation of Col. Foster, who capably expounded the Conservative cause.

Col. Foster dealt with the various economic issues of this election in a manner that was direct and entirely free of platform superficialities. The United States," he said "regards Canada as a great storehouse from which to draw natural resources, much of which is re-sold here as manufactured goods at prices highly profitable to the U.S." 240 million feet of logs had been exported to the United States last year, the speaker said, who repeated the exclamation of an American business man to the effect that he would not be surprised if Canadians backed "cows up to the boundary and let our Americans milk them."

Peterson Subsidy Criticized

Three-quarters of a million Canadian-born citizens had departed to the United States to follow these resources, Col. Foster continued, 200,000 of whom left during the year 1924. To this huge total could be added at least 25 per cent whom had crossed to the Republic illegally, of which Washington had no record.

The Australian treaty was criticized by the speaker, and also the subsidy of $12,000,000 given the Peterson shipping company by the King government in an attempt to lower ocean grain rates thus catering particularly to the prairie Progressive elements. The utility of this expenditure was pointed out by Col. Foster in that the Peterson interests controlled but ten ships, or but 9 per cent of the normal number of grain "bottoms" of any one year; there were 1200 cargo boats plying the Atlantic, he said.

Freight Rates Made Political Issue

The Liberals Col. Foster said, have created a political issue of the freight rates fight, taking the matter entirely out of the hands of the Vancouver Board of Trade, which organization had secured tangible results from their efforts on behalf of the people of British Columbia. It must be realized, he said that of the total freight commodities affecting British Columbia, 35 per cent, were products of the mines, and 47 per cent, products of the forest, both important "basic" materials, and both at present enjoying preferential rates. Such a possibility of "general equalization" of freight rates for British Columbia, as advocated by Liberals, Col. Foster said, would result in much higher charges upon these important raw commodities, and ultimately cost British Columbians more than if the rates were left as they are.

Canada "Washington's Mouthpiece"
Col. Foster also quoted an interesting opinion as published in the Philadelphia Ledger, to the effect that Canada is regarded in the United States as "Washington's mouthpiece to London" concluding his remarks by urging those present to support the Conservative candidate in an effort to bring back to Canada a sane, business-like government.

In honor of Mrs. J. C. Elliott, who has been her guest during the past two weeks, Mrs. J. Parton entertained at tea on Friday afternoon. The invited guests were old-timers of Abbotsford, who were well acquainted with Mrs. Elliott when she resided here, and included Mesdames Bedlow, Knox, Vanetta, Ware, Fraser, King, Alder, McGowan, McCrimmon, Swift, Ryall, McMenemy, Taylor, and the Misses Steele. A very pleasant afternoon resulted, occurrences of early days being brought to mind.

Mrs. J. K. McMenemy and daughter Evelyn have gone to Vancouver to take up residence.

Will Live On Beans

Solving the Food Problem For Russia's Population

A newly discovered foodstuff, which may insure Soviet Russia against famine and enable the government to approach a solution of the food problem for millions of her population is occupying official attention in Moscow. The new food is the product of a Budapest physiologist, Dr. Ladislav Bercseler, who is conferring with the government regarding the production and distribution of Soya bean flour, a foodstuff which is said to possess great nutriment. Fifteen or twenty flour mills are in operation, but so far unequipped with the proper machinery to provide food for ten million persons. In nutriment value, one pound of Soya bean flour equals two pounds of meat, plus a half pound of wheat flour and its usefulness above all is as a meat and egg substitute. It is estimated that the introduction of Soya bean flour on the scale now contemplated would enable the Soviet Government to release 600 tons of meat and eggs daily for export.

Uncomfortable Antiques

Old Furniture Not As Comfortable As Modern Kind

While very high prices are paid for antique furniture we know that such furniture is not always the most comfortable in which to recline. When Queen Alexandra was visiting York many years ago as Princess of Wales she stayed at the treasurer's house, and dining one night at the Deanery as the guest of Dean Percy Cusick, she dropped into a lounge chair and remarked: "How splendid to drop into a comfortable chair, after too much William and Mary." Our ancestors carried themselves well, but it must have been at the cost of many weary hours spent in straight-backed chairs.

The Traders In Dope

The prohibition of the traffic in drugs has the hearty support of all Canadians except the comparatively few wretched beings who are addicts. There is in this no loosening of standards. The man or woman who trades on the weaknesses of those afflicted with the drug habit has no sympathizers—it is one of the most despicable crimes. The splendid work, therefore, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in searching out those pariahs will have general commendation.—The Ottawa Journal.

Disease Among Eskimo

Adopting White Men's Methods May Lead to Extinction

Not many years will elapse before the Eskimo will be exterminated by disease through adopting white men's method of habitation, declared Dr. D. E. Scott, who recently returned to Edmonton after spending one year at Akilavik, in the delta of the Mackenzie River. He has been acting as medical officer to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Arctic posts and working among Indians and Eskimos, in behalf of the department of Indian affairs.

While this prediction has been made by others in the past, Dr. Scott adds that Eskimos and Indians of the delta are also suffering from intestinal parasitic attacks, due to eating raw fish, rabbits and other meats. This, however, he claims, is not a serious problem to contend with, but such diseases as cancer and appendicitis, he states, are becoming too prevalent among the Indians.

In the old days, when snow houses were their temporary homes, the Eskimos were healthy, states the doctor, but since they commenced living in cabins and shacks, tuberculosis has broken out among them, and this dread menace threatens to wipe them out. Among the delta Indians, Dr. Scott found that in all but ten per cent. there were symptoms of tuberculosis. Their methods of living were such that the disease was on the increase.

Speaking of law and order in the north, Dr. Scott declared that the Eskimos and Indians of the Western Arctic regions are the most law-abiding people in the world, and he could not recollect one police case during the year he was among them. In the eastern regions, however, where missionaries have not penetrated, an occasional murder was committed, but this, the doctor says, is really the Eskimos own law at work.

How Russia Goes After Business

Fomenting Strikes in England in Order To Sell Their Own Coal

The Paris correspondent of the New York Times reveals that at the very time the ruling spirits of Bolshevism were egging on the British coal miners in their strike threat, Moscow's agents were canvassing Europe for orders for Russian coal, to replace English and Welsh coal, during the expected shortage.

That is the kind of friends for the real laboring men of the world to have! Because they killed off, or banished, all the Russians who had brains and training enough to manage industries successfully, and to market products successfully, the Bolsheviks find that their mines and factories cannot compete with the "capitalistic" industries of other nations. What is simpler than to get everybody else to go on strike so that Russia will have a chance to sell something?—Minneapolis Journal.

Ontario Makes Drastic Laws For Motorists

Must Obtain Driving Permits and May Have to Pass Examination

Every man and woman who drives a motor car in Ontario next year will first have to obtain a driving permit, Hon. G. S. Henry, minister of public works and highways, told the annual meeting of the Canadian Automobile Association at Toronto.

The issuance of these permits would, in all probability, in due course be followed by compulsory examination for all drivers, he said. Any conviction for traffic act infractions registered against a motorist would be entered upon his permit and could lead to the permanent revocation of license to drive.

May Abandon Dirigibles

U. S. Government Virtually Decides To Concentrate on Aeroplanes

The Shenandoah disaster probably will result in temporary, if not complete abandonment by the government of its lighter than air activities.

The Los Angeles may be sold for what it will bring, the Lakehurst air station probably closed, helium extraction will be curtailed and from now on appropriations and energies will be concentrated on aeroplanes.

The programme had virtually been decided for reasons of economy, before the loss of the Shenandoah, and with this new proof of the vulnerability of dirigibles seems more certain than ever to be adopted.

Find Graves Of Massacred Christians

Believed To Be Victims Of Jap Revolution In 1937

Dr. Earl R. Bull, Methodist Episcopal missionary in charge of work in Loo Chow Islands, Japan, has discovered the burial ground of 11,000 Christians, believed to have been killed in an uprising during the revolution of 1937.

An inscription found near the grounds by Dr. Bull states that in all 33,000 Christians were slain, beheaded and buried.

The heads of the victims were buried in one spot and the bodies carried to another place, so there would be no chance of them uniting again, the inscription said.

The massacre practically wiped out all the Catholic converts in the country.

Open Big Conference

Seven Hundred Delegates Attend Child Welfare Conference at Geneva

An immense effort to improve the welfare of the world's children was launched at Geneva with the opening of the first child welfare congress, attended by 700 delegates from 58 countries, including the United States and many of the Latin-American Republics. Two hundred reports, dealing with various aspects of the child problem were submitted to the congress.

Poor Remuneration

For Technical Work

Very Discouraging For Those Who Go In For Professions

A New York newspaper is making an appeal for the better treatment of that city's engineering staff. It is an extraordinary sidelight on the broad and better value of a technical education when college graduates must appeal for compensation almost as generous as that of plumbers, bricklayers and plasterers.

Of the engineers employed by the city of New York, and the same scale presumably is common throughout the continent, ten per cent. receive less than ditch diggers. About twelve per cent. earn as much as foremen of street labor crews; while the majority are not so well paid as the everyday mechanical craftsman.

It is a peculiar fact that the so-called "white collar" employments, including bank clerks, bookkeepers, draughtsmen employed by architects, engineers who lay out the work for their own paid ditch diggers, and mine engineers, are all in comparison to the trades and to unskilled labor are badly underpaid.

If there is not a radical turn for the better in these matters the next generation is going to witness a shortage of college men seeking technical educations. If a young man cannot make a decent living at his chosen profession after spending a mint of money and four or five years of his time in a university, he is a fool to pursue it.—The Toronto Saturday Night.

China's Substitute For War

Boycott Has Become Favorite Weapon Against Other Nations

The Chinese are adepts in the use of the boycott. It is their substitute for war. News that in South China Canadian goods are included in the boycott declared against imports from Great Britain will be disquieting to merchants and manufacturers in the Dominion who have dealings with the Orient. Fortunately they are relatively few, and in most cases it will be easy to refrain from the use of articles exported to China of marks showing the country of origin. Our chief exports are wheat, wheat flour and lumber. There is also a growing trade in automobiles—over two hundred last year—and Canadian whisky but both were doubtless mainly for the use of residents in the foreign quarters of the Chinese coast cities. We may conceivably lose for a time part of the flour trade that some western mills have been cultivating in China, but even the keenest of the boycotters will have trouble in discriminating between Canadian wheat and that grown in Dakota and Minnesota.

The case is one in which Canada is penalized through no fault of her own because she flies the Union Jack. It must be set against the many others in which Canada secures marked advantages in foreign trade because she is a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.—Toronto Globe.

Receive Fewer Immigrants

U. S. Immigration Reduced By 68 Per Cent. Due To New Laws

The new immigration law has reduced by approximately 68 per cent. the influx of foreigners to the United States, according to analysis of immigration statistics for 1924-25. Many nationals of foreign countries are leaving the United States for their home shores. Several countries have not only failed to fill their quotas, but the net immigration has been reduced by an emigration of aliens. Figures show that 20,948 more Italians left the United States than entered it during the year.

Germany, Great Britain, the Irish Free State and Sweden also failed to fill their quotas.

The total immigration was 294,314 for the year, as compared with 706,896 during the preceding year, before the two per cent. quota went into effect.

Canada and Mexico are now the chief sources of immigrant labor, the influx from these countries yielding a total of 130,193 or nearly two-thirds of the net immigration for the year.

Obedying Orders

The great Napoleon was once visiting an outpost at night and alone. On the road he was stopped by a French sentry who refused to let him pass. Napoleon argued but did not disclose his identity. Finally, the sentry said: "I have orders to let no one pass, and I would not let you pass if you were Napoleon Bonaparte himself."

Napoleon turned back. The next morning the sentry was promoted to be an officer and he later became one of the emperor's most brilliant generals.

Clerk—"Yes, sir; a lady's belt. What waist measure?"

Bigboy—"Oh, about as long as my back."

Work For Princess

Have Nearly Completed Bedroom Suite Ordered By Lord Lascelles

A porter, waiter, market gardener and farm laborer are helping to make one of the most beautiful pieces of furniture produced during this generation—a cream lacquered bedroom suite of Honduras mahogany ordered by Lord Lascelles for Princess Mary Viscountess Lascelles.

A London Daily Mail reporter saw the massive suite growing in the hands of the disabled workers of the Lord Roberts Memorial Workshops, Fulham Road, S.W., not one of whom had had any knowledge before the war, in which he was wounded, of the trade he is now practising.

Men with either only one leg or one arm, and one who has lost two limbs have finished most of the woodwork of the lift, wardrobe—many people with lifelong experience of the furnishing trade have never seen one so long—and the dressing table, washstand, two bedside tables, and other articles in the seven-piece suite, will soon be ready for the lacquer. The foreman lacquerer was before the war a market gardener.

There are more than a dozen big panels to be treated, and much of it will fall to the brush of an ex-waiter, who is the most remarkable man in the department.

"About a year ago he came to us for a job," said an official. "He was 50 per cent. disabled, and we followed our usual course of trying him in every department until we could find something that suited."

"He seemed to be falling, and at last I said, 'Can you draw?' He said he had never tried but was willing to do so. So we handed him over to our artists, who first made him do pot-hooks until he was nearly dizzy and then persevered with him until he is one of the best painters of lacquer pictures in London."

Officials Must Wear Hats and Dress Like Europeans

More and more the newly-born Turkish Republic is abandoning old Turkish customs and substituting European methods, while the fez and urban as national headgear seem to be going into the discard. The council of commissaires has decreed that all officials must dress in European fashion and wear hats.

Only priests are to be permitted to wear turbans and they must uncover within government offices.

SYNOPSIS

Barée, wandering in the woods, came upon Wakayoo, the black bear, and, fascinated, watched him knock fish out of the pool. He learned where Wakayoo cached his provisions, a discovery that solved the food problem for the young wolf-dog. One day he suddenly found himself face to face with Pierrot, the trapper, and his daughter, Nepeese, the Willow, who a few days before had shot and slightly wounded Barée, thinking him a wolf. Nepeese now pursued Barée, who concealed himself beneath a great boulder.

From where he lay Barée could see what happened. Scarcely had he crawled under the rock when Nepeese and Pierrot appeared through the break in the dip, and stopped. The fact that they stopped thrilled Barée. They were afraid of Wakayoo! The big bear was two-thirds of the way across the meadow. The sun fell on him, so that his coat shone like black satin. Pierrot stared at him for a moment. Pierrot did not kill for the love of killing. Necessity made him a conservationist. But he saw that in spite of the lateness of the season, Wakayoo's coat was splendid—and he raised his rifle.

Barée saw this action. He saw, a moment later, something spit from the end of the gun, and then he heard that deafening crash that had come with his own hurt, when the Willow's bullet had burned through his flesh. He turned his eyes swiftly to Wakayoo. The big bear had stumbled; he was on his knees; and then he struggled up and lumbered on.

The roar of the rifle came again, and a second time Wakayoo went down. Pierrot could not miss at that distance. Wakayoo made a splendid mark. It was slaughter; yet for Pierrot and Nepeese it was business—the business of life.

Barée was shivering. It was more from excitement than fear, for he had lost his own fear in the tragedy of these moments. A low whine rose in his throat as he looked at Wakayoo, who had risen again and faced his enemies—his jaws gaping, his head swinging slowly, his legs weakening under him as the blood poured through his torn lungs. Barée whined—because Wakayoo had fished for him, because he had come to look on him as a friend, and because he knew it was death that Wakayoo was facing now. There was a third shot—the last. Wakayoo sank down in his tracks. His big head dropped between his forepaws. A racking cough or two came to Barée. And then there was silence.

CHAPTER VIII.

As Nepeese gazed about the rock-walled end of the canyon, the prison into which they had driven Wakayoo and Barée, Pierrot looked up again from his skinning of the big black bear, and he muttered something that no one but himself could have heard. "Non, it is not possible," he had said a moment before; but to Nepeese it was possible—the thought that was in her mind. It was a wonderful thought. It thrilled her to the depth of her wild, beautiful soul. It sent a glow into her eyes and a deeper flush of excitement into her cheeks and lips.

"She drew herself out and stood once more in the sunshine."

As she quested the ragged edges of the little meadow for signs of the dog-pup, her thoughts flashed back swiftly. Two years ago they had buried her princess mother under the tall spruce near their cabin. That day Pierrot's sun had set for all time, and her own life was filled with a vast loneliness. There had been three at the graveside that afternoon as the sun went down—Pierrot, herself and a dog, a great, powerful husky with a white star on his breast and a white-tipped ear. He had been her dead mother's pet from puppyhood—her bodyguard, with her always, even with his head resting on the side of her bed as she died. And that night, the night of the day they buried her, the dog had disappeared. He had gone as quietly and as completely as her spirit. No one ever saw him after that. It was strange, and to Pierrot it was a miracle. Deep in his heart he was filled with the wonderful conviction that the dog had gone with his beloved Wyola into heaven.

But Nepeese had spent three winters at the Missioner's school at Nelson House. She had learned a great deal about white people and the real God, and she knew that Pierrot's thought was impossible. She believed that her mother's husky was either dead or had joined the wolves. Probably he had gone to the wolves. So—was it not possible that this youngster she and her father had pursued was of the flesh and blood of her mother's pet? It was more than possible.

Barée had not moved an inch from under his rock. He lay like a thing stunned, his eyes fixed steadily on the scene of the tragedy out in the meadow.

Barée wanted to approach. It was like an invisible string tugging at his very heart. It was Kazan, and not Gray Wolf, calling to him back through the centuries, a "call" that was as old as the Egyptian pyramids and perhaps ten thousand years older. But against that desire Gray Wolf was pulling from out the black ages of the forests. The wolf held him quiet and motionless. Nepeese was looking about her. She was smiling. For a moment her face was turned toward him, and he saw the white shine of her teeth, and her beautiful eyes seemed glowing straight at him.

And then, suddenly, she dropped on her knees and peered under the rock. Their eyes met. For at least half a minute there was not a sound. Nepeese did not move, and her breath came so softly that Barée could not hear it.

Then she said, almost in a whisper: "Barée! Barée! Upi Barée!"

It was the first time Barée had heard his name, and there was something so soft and assuring in the sound of it that in spite of himself the dog in him responded to it in a whimper that just reached the Willow's ears. Slowly she stretched in an arm. It was bare and round and soft. He might have darted forward the length of his body and buried his fangs in it easily. But something held him back. He knew that it was not an enemy; he knew that the dark eyes shining at him so wonderfully were filled with the desire to protect him; he knew that the voice that came to him so like a strange and thrilling music.

"Barée! Barée! Upi Barée!" Over and over again the Willow called to him like that, while on her face she tried to draw herself a few inches farther under the rock. She could not reach him. There was still a foot between her hand and Barée, and she could not wedge herself in an inch more. And then she saw where on the other side of the rock there was a hollow, shut in by a stone. If she had removed the stone, and come in that way—

She drew herself out and stood once more in the sunshine. Her heart thrilled. Pierrot was busy over his bear—and she would not call him. She made an effort to move the stone which closed in the hollow under the big boulder, but it was wedged in tightly. Then she began digging with a stick.

Five minutes—and Nepeese could move the stone. She tugged at it. Inch by inch she dragged it out until at last it lay at her feet and the opening was ready for her body. She looked again toward Pierrot. He was still busy, and she laughed softly as she undid a big red-and-white Bay handkerchief from about her shoulders. With this she would secure Barée. She dropped on her hands and knees and then lowered herself flat on the ground and began crawling into the hollow under the boulder.

Barée had moved. With the back of his head flattened against the rock he heard something which Nepeese had not heard; he had felt a slow and growing pressure, and from this pressure he had dragged himself slowly—and the pressure still followed. The mass of rock was settling! Nepeese did not see or hear or understand. She was calling to him more and more pleadingly:

"Barée—Barée—Barée—" Her head and shoulders and both arms were under the rock now. The glow of her eyes was very close to Barée. He whined. The thrill of a great and impending danger stirred in his blood. And then—

The Oldest Living Thing

J. E. Wilson, Toronto builder, is exhibiting a bee, nesting in a solid block of blue stone, which he received recently from a quarry near Owen Sound. When the block of stone was split, says Mr. Wilson, it was found to contain a cavity in which was a rosebud, with a bee partly buried in its dried petals. After being dislodged the bee was able to crawl.

Accepting the story as fact, the bee in question is undoubtedly the oldest living creature, anything from 25,000 to millions of years old.

Historic Old Firm Fails

Blacking Manufacturers in England Flourished until They Gave Up Advertising

Immortalized by Charles Dickens in "Pickwick," the old-established firm of Day and Martin is to close. It was the blacking manufactured by the firm that Sam Weller polished the boots of his master.

An extraordinary general meeting of shareholders passed a resolution that the concern should voluntarily wind up. It was stated that the company had been able to pay off all its old liabilities and to leave a little in hand. Beneath this announcement lies a romantic history of trade, for the firm of Day and Martin is known throughout the English-speaking world. It is mentioned by Dickens and Tom Hood, by George Eliot and Carlyle.

The firm was founded, in 1770, more or less by accident. Mr. Martin, of Doncaster, who was a hairdresser and a surgeon-barber, befriended a weary soldier who had outstayed his leave. In order to show his gratitude, the soldier gave him a secret recipe for blacking, which he had constantly used on officers' boots. "Make blacking like this," he remarked, "and you will make a fortune." Mr. Martin, with his cousin, Mr. Day, decided to try the recipe. They did so, and so began the famous firm. Up to 1894, the firm prospered greatly. It then fell on evil days, through the unwillingness of the directors to advertise.

Ceremonies Observed At Sea

Ships Go Through Certain Ceremonies When Passing Each Other

Ships at sea have a "language" of their own when they wish to converse with or signal to one another. Nearly all big steamers carry wireless installation, but in addition, every vessel of this type is provided with a steam whistle or siren, a mechanically-operated foghorn and a bell. Sailing ships are obliged to have both a mechanical foghorn and a bell before they are allowed to enter or leave a port. When ships pass one another at sea certain ceremonies are observed. Thus, a merchant vessel meeting a warship is expected to dip her flag in salute, a courtesy acknowledged by the naval commander in a similar manner. Liners are generally saluted by "tramps," while when one liner meets another the junior captain dips his house flag first.

Tenacity of the British

Ability To Hang On Is Secret Of Empire's Success

For the British the empire and its ways are set for eternity. Days and years are nothing. They just keep on going and although they ask themselves occasionally when Ramsay MacDonald gives up Singapore, or the coal miners tie up industry, or the dole increases, or a squadron loses, or nearly, loses a naval battle, whether the empire is to survive, down deep they know that question is not worth asking and does not deserve an answer. They may have to hang on a long time to an enemy who knows they are licked and get mad because they don't know it. All they know is that time is long and all that's necessary is to keep at it. Not so good today, but tomorrow is another day.—Chicago Tribune.

The Importance Of Faith

Doctors Like Patients Who Believe They Will Recover

A Swiss watchmaker who died recently at the age of 100 was diagnosed by physicians in his youth as incurably tubercular. He studied his own case, adopted a systematic, reasoned plan of living and continued in the enjoyment of an active life far beyond the usual span. He had the will to live, call it by whatever name you wish.

Nurses, and physicians, know how important is the patient's state of mind. A will to live, a strong desire to get well, often is the determining factor in a recovery. A cheerful, buoyant manner is not the least of a good physician's attributes.—The Buffalo Express.

Doc.—"Well, what's troubling you?" Patient—"Frequent pains in the back."

Doc.—"Here are some pills; take one fifteen minutes before pains start."

"My dear, the doctor says a brisk walk before going to bed will cure my insomnia."

"Well," returned his wife, "I'll clear the room so that you can walk, and you may as well take the baby with you."

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard,' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicine to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. ROSE, 580 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

A Fiery Story of Desert Love
Screened in Algiers and Tunis

Jamil, the dragoman, scorning the languorous beauties of his tribe, sought the fiery American girl in the little Christian mission. At first she did not understand his ardour for instruction, and then—see

Screened in Northern Africa with thousands of Bedouin and Berber tribes—men in surging Ingram mobs—a story of love in the shadows of the mosque.

You have contributed to Christian missions; well, here's what your missionaries have to face—howling mobs of frenzied fanatics crying for Christian blood, with one heroic Bedouin standing between the American girl and death. Good Light Means Good Sight

The National Safety Council says:

1. Light should shine on the object, not in the observer's eyes.
2. Glare, which is light out of place, should be overcome by the use of diffusing glass shades.
3. Avoid the glare of reflections from polished surfaces.
4. Both too much and too little light strains and fatigues the eyes. Irritation also results from unsteady, flickering or streaked light.

Walter Lane of Kilgord killed a large bobcat near his place on Sunday. The animal had developed a particular appetite for poultry and was lying on a tree bough near the hen roost when shot. It measured four feet six inches.

While driving home over the old Yale road on Friday evening, R. M. Sowles ran his car off the edge of the road and down a 100-foot bank near the Musselwhite cemetery. The driver was unhurt, jumping out before the car overturned, but the car, an early model

DON'T BE MISLEAD!

"BUTTER"
Entering Canada from the U.S. at a lb.; entering U.S. from Canada (we fail to see any) 8c a lb.; entering Australia from Canada 6c a lb.; entering Canada from Australia 1c a lb.

With tariffs like this where in the world is the Canadian farmer going to find a market to ship his surplus butter? Farmers of Matsqui and Sumas Prairie and other dairy districts beware of this pitfall. Other nations will make Canada a dumping ground for surplus butter and you will be receiving next to nothing for your butter fat, and then what happens to your farm—the dreaded spectre "MORTGAGE" if you can secure one.

"EGGS"
Do you know that the egg business in the State to the south of us is one of the most flourishing of agricultural pursuits in the U.S.? Big trucks go around and pick up the crates the same as they do the milk and cream. They have millions in cold storage which will be dumped into Canada in Jan., Feb., and March and break our local market. There is an egg-marking act in force; do you see the egg shell when you eat a fried egg omelet, cake or pie in a restaurant? No, you never see the mark. Again compare the tariff. Eggs from U.S. to Canada 3c a doz.; from Canada to U.S. 8c a doz.; eggs from Australia to Canada enter free; from Canada to Australia 18c a doz. Again we ask, where do we ship our surplus eggs? Of course we admit we have no surplus eggs. 50 per cent of the egg men whom the Liberals call incompetent are out of business and in a few years at the present Protection we get the rest will also go out of business.

By the way, have you ever tried to ship some of your surplus potatoes to the U.S. lately; just try to do so and see them stopping at the border. They are wonderful neighbors to take the surplus stocks off our hands; only when it suits them.

Ask some Liberal candidate where the screenings which we need for stock from the government elevators at Vancouver go? he may evade the question; but we think you will find they go across the line.

GAME WARDEN AT SUMAS SANCTUARY MAKES FIRST ARREST

"Mike" Barry, genial friend of anglers and sportsmen, who has made a habit—and incidentally kept open house—of some small buildings near the McGillivray Creek and Sumas Pumping station, is now proudly wearing a shiny new Provincial game warden's badge, having been appointed to care for the new game sanctuary recently established by the Provincial authorities, which adjoins his residence.

The new officer won his spurs a day or so after receiving his ensigns of authority when he arrested one Charles Dolman, a local road foreman, who had found the temptation too strong. Mr. Dolman was called to order in Chilliwaik police court this week.

Friendships develop quickly with Mike—and, if you are kindred soul, endure. We went out his way on Sunday to see where all the ducks were, and found him, as usual with a house full of visitors. Taking us to a small slough barely 100 yards behind his camp, there we found it teeming with ducks of all kinds, which quacked around in great glee, showing marked confidence in their security by allowing us to approach quite close before rising. There appear to be several big flock engines, 'permanent' residents of the lake, but they have not yet learned to fly high enough over the heavy barrage of shot that greets them from the borders of the reserve morning and evening in their flights to the grainfields and smartweed. It occurred to us that sportsmen will be grateful to the powers that be for this reservation as time goes on.

A casual remark to the gentleman with the shiny badge about the terrible temptation to gunners the sanctuary created brought positive assurance of what would happen if he caught them. "I don't care who it is," Mike emphasized "even Mr. Barrow"—and knowing his feelings toward the Agricultural Minister who lives nearby, we were made decidedly clear in the matter.

LIKES NAVAL PICTURE, BUT WANTS MORE

Editor News: The proprietor of the Abbotsford picture theatre is to be congratulated upon his shows of Friday and Saturday last. "Zeebrugge" is well worth while our attendance in fact for the first time, and the reason for not going before is because the type of picture usually offered did not appeal to us.

Of course, we do not all favor the same things, but give us pictures like this one, and there are many like ourselves who would become regular patrons of the local show, even though it means traveling some distance to us in the outlying parts, if we got good, clean pictures instead of the sentimental rot one sees at most shows.

Educational pictures are not becoming too tame, even for the young bloods and flappers, and a clean show with a piece of fun is always enjoyed even by the ancients. With best wishes.

Takes Personal Reflection from Article

Mr. H. F. Thorn does not like our editorial article "A Tender Sore" in last week's News, and makes his feelings very plain in a letter he writes. While the offending article specifically refers to government office staffs at Ottawa and at provincial headquarters, Mr. Thorn seizes upon it as criticizing the Abbotsford Customs & Excise office and apparently himself in particular. His letter is personally addressed, but it is obvious that there are certain parts of it upon which he desires the public to be clearly informed. After contradicting our statement that Canada's administrative staffs are almost the size in numbers to Great Britain (based upon comparative extracts from the British Civil List 1923-24, the Canada Year Book, Hansard, and Legislative Reports of the three western provinces during that period—with due allowance for British industrial conditions), the letter follows:—"I beg to offer you or anyone else three months of my 'enormous' pay cheques, if you can show that I used any political pull in order to obtain my Government job. And I believe that very few, if any, at least of the lower-paid men, are in any different category to myself. I wish to remind you that many of us held down very good commercial positions which were closed to us on our return from the war, and we could do so again. I do not pretend to be able to speak, as apparently you can, for the Civil Service over the whole of the Dominion. But for the office in which I have the honor to work, I affirm that it is anything but over-staffed. We have three men. In addition to the ordinary collection of duty, we have Income Tax work, Excise Tax Stamp issues and collection of Manufacturers' Taxes (including all lumber and shingle mills) in a territory stretching from a point west of Aldergrove to as far as Penitence; and from the Fraser River to the International boundary. Owing to train schedules this office has to be open, in addition to the usual day hours from 8.30 p.m. to 2 a.m. every morning and frequently until 4 and 5 a.m. And you Mr. Editor, must be a mighty sound sleeper not to know it! In conclusion, I should greatly appreciate it if you would make it more clear as to just whom your articles apply to, so as at least to avoid local misunderstandings."

By the tone of Mr. Thorn's letter, his last question appears a superfluity. The facts he points out about the local office are all well enough known by our readers, so we fail to realize the provocation or necessity of his letter. Especially as the conditions we referred to are as irritating to "outside" men in both provincial and government service, as they are aggravating to the tax-paying public.—Ed.
